More than ever, the rapid expansion of the longevity economy offers unprecedented demand for innovative new products and services designed to the needs of our aging population. This sector is rapidly emerging as a key driver of employment and job growth, rivaling even the technology industry in its scope and impact. Meeting the needs of our older population will require profound shifts in understanding how we live, learn, and connect as we live longer lives.

If you believe your future exists in the care and service of older adults and wish to position your business for success in response to the needs of a new generation in aging, please join us August 26-28 in Phoenix, Arizona at The Wigwam Resort for the 9th Annual Society of Certified Senior Advisors Building Knowledge and Empowering Networks Conference.

The CSA Annual Conference is a premier event, offering an unparalleled platform to increase visibility for your brand among leaders spanning health care, housing, placement, financial, insurance, legal, and more. The conference attracts a wide array of participants, including key thought leaders, Certified Senior Advisors, students, industry partners, and other professionals.

Let's unite in our shared vision to transform aging into a process of life that is cherished and valued, rather than an experience to be feared.

Sincerely,
